Intercultural Education the Topic Of Institute at Boston University

An institute on intercultural education, which has for its objective, "inter-group understanding, respect and good will," will be conducted for the first 10 days of Boston University's 30th annual summer session from July 5 to 15.

The sessions will meet daily from 11:15 a. m. to 12:05 p. m., and from 12:15 p. m. to 1:05 p. m., with conference groups for teachers interested in special aspects of the problem.

Guest speakers at the institute will include: Clarence Q. Berger, Educational Director, New England Regional Office, Anti Defamation League of B'nai B'rith; Doris I. Boyd, head of English Department, Carter School, Chelsea; the Rev. William J. Daly, Supervisor of Schools, Archdiocese of Boston; Annette Smith Lawrence, Educational Director, Council Against Intolerance in America; Dr. Joshua Loth Liebman, rabbi, Temple Israel; Dr. J. L. McCorison, Jr., Regional Director, National Conference of Christians and Jews; Dr. Clyde Miller, Teachers College, Columbia University; Alice W. O'Connor, Supervisor of Social Service, Division of Immigration and Americanization, Massachusetts State Department of Education; Marie Cole Powell, author, "Boys and Girls at Worship" and other professional texts.

mans have been drawing on this agricultural country for milk and butter.

The newspaper Sydsvenska Dagbladet published an unconfirmed report, that the German military had issued an ultimatum that the Capital would be bombed unless the strike ended shortly.

Patriots numbering perhaps 15,000 were reported well-armed with machine guns, rifles, and pistols, and insistent that they will fight on until the Germans lift the repressive state-of-emergency and call off the 2,000 members of the Schalburg Corps.

The Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet reported the Germans had taken more than 100 trade-union leaders and three members of the Copenhagen City Council as hostages and threatened them with execution if they did not issue orders to halt the strike.
